

“These collages are a body of work informed by my subconscious. I infuse them with various culturally charged images, including art historical references, advertising images, and combine both self-portraiture and ancestor images to create new ways of looking at tradition and history. They are meant to be both thought provoking and humorous.”

Lisa Sheets